Key Note Speaker Announced

We are beyond delighted to announce that the creators of Screwnomics, the women's book so many are praising, will join us at Women's Weekend 2018! Journalist and educator Rickey Gard Diamond will be our keynote speaker and explain why laughter and women's personal stories are keys for demystifying economic language and ideas. She and cartoonist Peaco Todd will present a workshop on the care and feeding of important collaborations and side-hustles like theirs, keeping them energizing and inspiring.

Bringing with her a wealth of knowledge and her newly released book Screwnomics, Rickey sets the tone and intention for challenging gender bias and male-dominated institutions with information, questions, conversation, and courageous passion. We will accomplish that and more with Rickey at Women's Weekend 2018.
